

Program Evaluation of Cardiac Care Programs in the VHA

ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

This report was prepared under Task Order 39, Contract Number V101 (93) 1444 by PricewaterhouseCoopers, LLP as primary contractor with both Harvard Medical School and The Lewin Group as subcontractors. PricewaterhouseCoopers, LLP led by Dr. David Chin and Rose Zummo, provided project management and oversight for this program evaluation. Dr. Barbara J. McNeil served as principal investigator and led the project's research and analysis activities with her team of researchers from the Harvard Medical School, Department of Health Care Policy. They include Mary Beth Landrum, a statistician, and Edward Guadagnoli, a health services researcher, both in the Department of Health Care Policy. The Lewin Group, led by Thomas E. Mannle, spearheaded the data acquisition and verification of both internal VA and external comparative data for this project.

There are a few team members who merit special acknowledgement. From Harvard Medical School, both Margaret Volya and Jeff Souza worked tirelessly creating the analytic cohorts, running the analyses associated with each cohort, and often re-running the analyses; very complex tasks that could only be completed by talented programmers. The team would also like to thank Sean Murphy, an independent contractor, for programming the distance and level of service analyses with speed and precision. These three individuals were instrumental to the successful completion of this program evaluation.

The team devoted over three years to this study, to provide meaningful analyses that might help the Department of Veterans Affairs better serve all U.S. veterans who obtain care under the Veterans Health Administration. Team members who significantly contributed to this program evaluation are listed below.

Program Evaluation of Cardiac Care Programs in the VHA

There are two other VA team members that were instrumental to the project, but have since transitioned into different roles, Dr. Toni Mitchell and Larry Gorban. Further, this analysis would not have been possible without the assistance of Elizabeth Ahuja, VA Central Office, who provided the project team with all of the inpatient and outpatient claims data for our IHD veteran cohorts.

We would like to thank the countless team of data experts that helped the program evaluation team leverage some of the VA and VHA data used throughout this report, including Diane Cowper, Frank Cutler, Stanlie Daniels, Nathan Every, MD, Donald Going, Gail Graham, Michael Grindstaff, Ann Hendricks, Denise Hynes, Lewis Kaziz, PhD, Ann Keane, Stephen Kendall, Austin F-S Lee, PhD, Beth Martindale, Randy Remmel, Theodore Stefos, and Steven Wright, PhD to name only a few.

A very special thanks to the team of people at the Centers for Medicare and Medicaid Services (CMS) for all of their cooperation and assistance in providing the team with the millions of records required to develop the comparison cohort, specifically Michelle Ruff, Judith Giles, and Dinah Horton as well as the rest of the CMS team Ned Burford, Joe Daniloski, Tony Dean, Betty Devins, Betty Jackson, Sheila Sanders, and Robyn Thomas.

Finally, the entire team would like to extend our deepest sympathy to the family, friends, and colleagues of Marsha McCullough. Marsha did not have the opportunity to see this project thought to completion, but made a significant contribution.
