1. Registry

The following table identifies the service components which have been placed within the VA Sharable Service Component Registry. These components meet the criteria for sharable services under the FEA-SRM definition. Specifically, a component is defined as "a self contained business process or service with predetermined functionality that may be exposed through a business or technology interface". These entities are independent of any particular business line and provide either business process functionality or information technology capabilities and data which are designed to be shared across business lines.

The growth of a sharable component registry is the result of a continuous improvement process. This is a partial listing of VA service components, which will be significantly augmented during future VA EA publications.

This registry and the follow-on SRM mapping matrix are intended to be used in the VA Project Milestone Process and the VA Ex-300 Budget Request EA review process, to assure process and data re-use within the VA IT portfolio. The cross reference can be viewed in MS Excel by clicking the reference document.
