WHY HEPATITIS C?

The diagnosis and treatment of hepatitis C is clearly an important mission for the NW HCRC. About 3-4 million individuals in the United States are infected with the hepatitis C virus and it may be up to 4 times more common in veterans treated within Veterans Affairs Medical Centers (VAMCs). Recently, the Department of Veteran Affairs mandated HCV counseling and testing be offered to all veterans at risk for the disease.

At the Portland VA Medical Center, there are over 3,000 veterans who have tested positive for the hepatitis C antibody, meaning they have been exposed to the virus at some point in the past.

ADDITIONAL RESOURCES

The NW HCRC also provides:

- Referrals to the Portland VA Medical Center liver, mental health and substance abuse clinics.
- Evaluation and follow-up care for those receiving interferon treatment.
- Opportunities to participate in hepatitis C research studies.

ABOUT US

The Northwest Hepatitis C Resource Center (NW HCRC) was established in 2002 and has centers at both the Portland and Seattle VA Medical Centers.

The NW HCRC's major goals are:

- to improve the process of care for veterans with hepatitis C
- to improve quality of life for veterans with hepatitis C
- to increase the likelihood of long-term follow-up for the complications of hepatitis C

The NW HCRC serves veterans with hepatitis C in addition to those who care about them. Among our resources, we offer education, support groups, and the opportunity to participate in research about hepatitis C.
