Veteran Community Care – Opioid Safety Initiative
VA MISSION Act 2018

Overview

One of VA’s top priorities is ensuring that opioid medications are appropriately prescribed to Veterans and used safely. To address gaps in monitoring and control of opioids prescribed to Veterans by community providers, the VA MISSION Act of 2018 strengthens existing opioid safety requirements by formally aligning community provider standards with the Opioid Safety Initiative (OSI) guidelines.

Community Provider Requirements

Per the VA MISSION Act of 2018, all community providers who are part of VA’s contracted network are required to certify they have reviewed the VA OSI guidelines. The guidelines describe the critical decision points in the management of opioid therapy for chronic pain and provides clear and comprehensive evidence-based recommendations incorporating current information and practices for practitioners. These guidelines are available on VHA’s TRAIN website. To register and create an account in VHA TRAIN, see: https://www.va.gov/COMMUNITYCARE/docs/providers/VHA_TRAIN-Create_Account.pdf.

In addition to the Opioid Safety Initiative guidelines, VA offers many other clinical tools and provider education on opioids and pain management at: https://www.va.gov/PAINMANAGEMENT/Opioid_Safety_Initiative_OSI.asp.

As outlined in both the VA Community Care Network (CCN) contract and in individual Veterans Care Agreements (VCA), community care providers are required to certify they have reviewed VA’s OSI guidelines within six months (180 days) of joining VA’s network. If a community provider does not comply with the requirements of the Opioid Safety Initiative, VA can refuse authorization of care by the non-compliant provider and direct their removal from the community care network.

Safe Opioid Prescribing Practices

VA is committed to finding better ways to manage pain for Veterans while limiting the risks of long-term opioid therapy. In partnering with contracted community care providers, VA has implemented safe opioid prescribing practices to ensure community providers have access to available and relevant medical history of the Veteran, including a list of all medications prescribed to the Veteran as known by VA.

After care is provided to a Veteran, contracted community providers must send follow-up medical documentation, including records of any prescriptions for opioids, to the VA medical center (VAMC) listed on the patient referral via an approved method such as Veterans Health Information Exchange (VHIE) or fax. VA is responsible for recording those prescriptions in the electronic health record and for enabling other monitoring of the prescriptions as outlined in the Opioid Safety Initiative.

Community provider prescription information is subject to review by VAMCs and/or Veterans Integrated Service Networks (VISN) on a regular basis. VAMCs and/or VISNs may review community provider and patient level prescription information. If a community provider is found to have aberrant opioid prescription practices, the local Office of Community Care Oversight Council, or equivalent committee, will formally submit the community provider’s name for quality review by VA. Appropriate actions based on the review can range from re-education to exclusion from the contractor’s network.

Frequently Asked Questions

1. Can I still prescribe opioids to a Veteran? The OSI does not prevent community providers from prescribing opioids. However, all prescriptions should follow the standards outlined in the OSI guidelines.

2. I am a non-CCN community provider. Am I required to review the OSI guidelines? Yes. All community providers with an agreement with VA are required to review the OSI guidelines. All community providers can be assessed by VA for unsafe opioid prescription practices.

3. How will VA review community provider opioid prescribing practices? All VISNs are responsible for reviewing the prescription practices of community providers in their regions by leveraging prescription data, patient charts, staff and patient reports, and other data sources. Opioid prescribing practices will be reviewed regularly by a cross-functional committee. If the first review results in identification of a potential concern, the community provider will be reviewed in depth by VA and the TPA. In line with contractual requirements, the TPA will conduct a full clinical and administrative review. If necessary, further review through the TPA quality management group and a joint VA/TPA provider peer committee will follow. VA and the TPA will remain in constant contact regarding providers under review in order to track and respond to providers with aberrant opioid prescribing practices.
