Message From Monica Diaz, Executive Director, VHA Homeless Programs Office

At Williams College, Nathan Krissoff was captain of the swim team. He majored in political science, wrote poetry, and loved kayaking. Surely the successful student athlete would have his choice of career options upon graduating. Yet, Krissoff's post-college plans were determined early in his junior year—on September 11, 2001, to be exact.

Less than four months after he arrived in Iraq as an Officer in the U.S. Marine Corps, Krissoff was killed in action when his Humvee drove over an improvised explosive device, or IED. At his memorial service, Captain Michael Dubrule spoke of his commitment to service, saying, “Nate died doing what he loved, leading men in combat, saving lives, and making a difference in the lives of so many. No greater epitaph can be written. No greater sacrifice can be made.”

Nathan’s father, Bill Krissoff, was an orthopedic surgeon at the time of his son’s death. At age 60, Bill had nothing to prove by joining the military. Yet, Krissoff petitioned the U.S. Navy to allow him to serve in a Marine Corps medical battalion, deploy to Iraq and Afghanistan, and save countless lives of service members.

I learned of the Krissoff family’s story this month—as soon as I did, I knew I wanted to share it with each of you. Their family, like so many American military families, represents the best our country has to offer. Such devout selflessness is rare in the world, but it is embedded in the DNA of every service member and Veteran.

Month of the Military Caregiver

Providing quality care to America's Veterans doesn't end with the Veterans themselves. It extends to the family member or loved one who tends to the everyday needs of a disabled, chronically ill, or aging Veteran: the caregiver. This month, we honor and recognize the more than 5 million caregivers in the United States who care for over 2 million Veterans.
In 2010, VA established new services to support certain caregivers of eligible Veterans who served after September 11, 2001. These caregivers are now entitled to access to a toll-free caregiver support line (1-855-260-3274), expanded education and training on caring for Veterans at home, and other support services such as counseling and support groups. Learn more about these services.

Connecting Research to Practice Webinar Series

HPO COVID-19 Response and Updates

If you’re planning a vacation this summer, it’s important that you’re aware of the testing and vaccine requirements before traveling to your destination.

Maintaining physical distance to prevent COVID-19 is often difficult on public transportation. People may not be able to keep a distance of 6 feet from others on airplanes, trains, or buses. Protect yourself from COVID-19 by staying up to date with your COVID-19 vaccines and by wearing a mask on public transportation.

As always, do not travel if you have COVID-19 symptoms, if you have tested positive for COVID-19, or if you are awaiting results of a COVID-19 test.
