Dear Veteran,

This guidebook can be an important tool as you plan your return to the community. The programs and resources described in this guidebook can help reduce some of the pressures you may encounter upon your release from incarceration. These pressures, such as difficulty gaining social acceptance, economic struggles, and temptations that may lead back to negative thinking and behavior, can be very intense. Our hope is that you will find at least one program or resource in the guidebook that will provide some relief as you face the challenges of finding and supporting a better way of life.

This guidebook is designed to assist veterans who have been incarcerated in the State of New York, as well as their families. Because laws and parole stipulations can vary from state to state, we advise you to check your plans and release requirements against this guide.

Thank you for your service to our country.

Sincerely,

Jonathan Pollack, LCSW-R, MPA

We would like to acknowledge:

1. The National Coalition for Homeless Veterans which provided basic concepts and core information for this guide through its “Planning for Your Release” guide funded by the U.S. Department of Labor.

2. The Veterans Incarcerated Workgroup of Walla Walla, Washington, for the concept of state-specific information in its “Guidebook for Incarcerated Veterans” and for allowing the use of its guide as a template for this publication.

3. Vietnam Veterans of America, Inc. for developing the first Incarcerated Veterans Guidebook, which has inspired and informed subsequent efforts.

4. All public domain and agency resources included in this guidebook.
SECTION I: USING THIS GUIDE

This guide is for you to use to plan for your release and to keep as a reference after your release. It includes addresses, phone numbers and web sites that you can use to find out about programs and other available resources after your release. In case you do not have phone or internet access, please seek assistance from your assigned counselor, a friend or family member to help find the information you may need. Keep in mind that this guide does not include all of the services available, since resources in one area may be different from what is available in another. Therefore, be sure to check with local resources to learn about services in your area.

While incarcerated, begin inquiring about the department/unit responsible for helping you plan for your release (usually the Office of Guidance and Counseling). Take advantage of any classes or groups that are offered to work on your skills development so you can better prepare for life after release.

Begin thinking specifically about what you will need upon release. Ask yourself these kinds of questions: Will I need housing? Will I need medical, substance abuse, or mental health services? Do I need to learn a job skill? Do I have any other legal issues, such as child support? How do I restart my VA checks or Supplemental Security Income (SSI)?

Make a list of your needs. Remember that this is just a tool to help you get organized. A sample list might look like this:

- I need a place to live.
- I need a job.
- I need work clothes and tools.
- I want to get addictions treatment / counseling.
- I owe child support and/or have other legal matters.

Think about your list as you read this guide. Some questions you may want to ask yourself are, “Who do you think can help you with each of your needs? Is there one organization that may be able to work with you on many different things or do you need to contact several agencies?” Keep track of the steps you take, including the dates and names of people you contact for information or assistance. Although this guide provides national and state addresses for many organizations, we recommend you check your phone book or the internet for local and county agencies that may have more information about the kind of help available in your area.

When writing a letter to request information, be as clear and direct as you can. Write legibly and keep your letter brief and concise. Include the following information:

- Your name and contact information
- A brief statement about your current situation
- Your specific request
- What you have done so far (example: “I have written to ____________________ and they suggested I contact you.”)
- Any restrictions for mailings (example: “Please do not send any mail with staples or paper clips because it will not be accepted by my prison facility.”)

When contacting an agency for help by mail, e-mail or phone, be persistent and polite. Ask questions if information is not clear to you. Remember that many organizations are staffed by volunteers who are eager to help but may not have the answers you are looking for. If someone cannot help you, ask if they know someone who can. In this way, you will obtain the best results.

The Internet can also be helpful to find information about VA benefits and community resources in your area. This guide includes web addresses when available. If computer access is not available at your facility, you can visit the public library after release. Computer access may also be available at Department of Labor One-Stop Career Centers and Affiliate sites. See page 17 for further information.
SECTION II: HELP FOR VETERANS

This section includes Veteran-specific as well as general resources that can help you get back on your feet. Some organizations and programs may have waiting lists, require an interview, or have specific rules about whom they serve. It is a good idea to start asking about services and requirements now, so that you will be prepared when released. In some cases, you may be able to ask if your name can be placed on a waiting list, as you get closer to your release date. Remember to check the phone book and the internet for additional local, county and state agencies that are available in your area to assist you.

GETTING STARTED

Your post-release success depends upon steps you take while still incarcerated. Working in partnership with the Department of Corrections and Community Supervision (DOCCS) staff and/or your facility Offender Rehabilitation Coordinator to develop a re-entry plan can go a long way to reduce some of the challenges you may face after you leave the Corrections system. The resources in this book will be more useful if used in partnership with the resources that are also offered by DOCCS.

RE-ENTRY TIMELINE CHECKLIST:

☐ Request to be placed on the VA call out through your facility Veteran Liaison when you are within 1 year of your conditional release or max out date.

☐ Ask questions

☐ If you are interested in receiving information about VA services, please speak to your VA Liaison to be placed on the VA call out.

☐ Contact the Re-Entry Specialist for your respective facility upon release. The contact information is found on page 8.
The VA Health Care for Re-entry Veterans (HCRV) Program

In addition to working with DOCCS and Parole, the Department of Veterans Affairs provides outreach and re-entry planning to eligible Veterans who are within six months of release from incarceration through the Health Care for Re-entry Veterans (HCRV) program. The goals of the program are to educate incarcerated Veterans about VA services and benefits, to optimize Veterans’ chances for success in the community through comprehensive transition planning, and to provide post-release supportive case management. The HCRV Program Specialist works with DOCCS to identify Veterans in the Corrections system and makes site visits to facilities to meet individually with Veterans preparing for release. The Specialist also works closely with DOCCS and Community Supervision staff to develop transition plans for Veterans based on their needs and services available by the Department of Veterans Affairs. Transition plans typically include assistance with housing, employment or other income supports, as well as treatment services for medical, mental health and substance abuse problems.

The three Department of Veterans Affairs HCRV Program Specialists who conduct outreach to re-entry veterans in the State of New York:

Veterans will typically work with the HCRV Specialist in the correctional facility and provide appropriate referrals to the veterans returning area. For example, if your county of release will be Nassau on Long Island you would work with the Downstate New York HCRV Specialist on a re-entry plan.

If you are within six months of release, the best way to get in contact with an HCRV Specialist is to complete a VA Health Care for Re-entry Veterans Services Referral Form. Your facility Offender Rehabilitation Coordinator has copies of this form. The instructions are below:

1. Complete the top half of the form.
2. Ask your facility Offender Rehabilitation Coordinator to complete the bottom half of the form.
3. Your facility Offender Rehabilitation Coordinator will fax the form to the appropriate HCRV Specialist.
4. The HCRV Specialist will arrange for you to be part of a call-out on his/her next visit to your facility.

HEALTH CARE

Eligibility for VA Health Care:

Most but not all people who served in the military are eligible for VA health care services. Laws set forth by the U.S. Congress determine eligibility requirements. Every VA medical center has eligibility specialists that review veterans’ military service records for things such as type of discharge and length of time on active duty to determine eligibility. Please note that you cannot receive VA healthcare services other than compensation exams while incarcerated. If you are still incarcerated the VA Health Care for Re-entry Veterans Program Specialist can help determine your VA health care eligibility and register you for VA health care in anticipation of your release. If you have been released, we encourage you to enroll in the VA health care system as soon as possible. Please see the veterans’ benefits section on page 23.

Two Veterans Integrated Service Networks (VISN’s) within the VA system cover the State of New York. VISN 2 covers Upstate and Western New York, and VISN 3 covers Downstate New York (Hudson Valley, New York City and Long Island).
Below we have listed the VA medical centers and community based outpatient clinics by network area:

Special Health Information for Veterans:

Veterans, homeless, and incarcerated people are at high risk for Hepatitis C (HCV), a serious disease that can cause cirrhosis (scarring of the liver) and liver cancer. You are at risk if:

- you ever used a needle to inject drugs;
- you had a blood transfusion or organ transplant before 1992;
- you were a health care worker and had contact with blood;
- you were on long-term kidney dialysis;
- Your mother had Hepatitis C when she gave birth to you.

The Veterans Health Administration also recommends testing if:

- you are a Vietnam-era veteran;
- you have had exposure to blood on your skin;
- you have had multiple sex partners;
- you have tattoos or body piercings;
- you have ever snorted cocaine;
- you have liver disease;
- you have a history of drinking a lot of alcohol;
- You have had an abnormal liver function test.

If you are eligible for VA services and may be at risk, contact the nearest VA Medical Center after your release to be tested and seek HCV counseling.

General Health Care Services:

If you are ineligible for VA health care, free or low-cost health care may be available from the following sources:

1. The New York State Department of Health (DOH) can help you obtain health care if you are uninsured. Check the web at www.health.state.ny.us. You can also call the Medicaid Helpline. In New York City, call (718) 557-1399. Outside the five boroughs of New York City call (877) 472-8411.
2. National Health Care for the Homeless Council has a list of health care providers working with homeless people across the nation. For a list of providers in your state, go to www.nhchc.org.

3. Many local organizations and communities run free clinics. Look in the phone book blue pages under "Public Health" to contact local government offices for clinics in your area.

HOUSING

One of the first and most important steps in returning to the community is finding a place to live. This section describes various types of housing resources such as emergency shelter, transitional housing programs, permanent housing assistance as well as how to access each. Please note that you may be eligible for some VA housing programs without being eligible for VA healthcare services.

Emergency Housing and Shelter

The best situation is to never need emergency shelter and work closely with the DOCCS counseling staff and your offender rehabilitation coordinator (as well as the HCRV Program Specialist if you are eligible for VA services) as you make a community re-entry plan. If you do need emergency shelter, you can find it several ways:

1. Look in the local yellow pages under "Mission" or "Shelter." You can also look in the front of the phone book under local, city, or county government Department of Social Services or "Human Services," or call the County Commissioner’s Office for information about local low-income housing coalitions or homeless advocacy groups who may know what is available.

2. Use the First Step web site which provides a wealth of information on housing and income assistance, food, employment services, child care, mental health and counseling services, health care assistance, alcohol and drug abuse treatment, life skills and HIV/AIDS services. Go to www.cms.hhs.gov/apps/firststep/index.html.

3. Check the Department of Housing and Urban Development online to find a list of emergency shelters for men, women and families in every state at www.hud.gov/homeless/hmlsagen.cfm.
4. National Coalition for the Homeless has a directory of shelters and homeless assistance programs online. It does not list every program in the country, so be sure to check your phone book for local programs. Call 1-800-838-4357 or go to www.nchv.org.

5. Check your County Department of Social Services. Most provide help securing emergency assistance, including shelter, public assistance, food stamps and other referrals. We have included a list of county offices in New York State in Section IV (Resources) of this guide.

6. VA Contract Residential Programs provide short-term residential housing. The VA Contract Residential program Social Worker can be contacted upon your release. If you are in a crisis, you may contact the Veterans Crisis Hotline at 1-800-273-8255 for immediate assistance.

Residential Treatment Programs and Transitional Housing

Transitional or temporary housing can help you adjust to living in the community while you work toward full independence after your release. There are often waiting lists for transitional housing assistance programs, however, so you should ask about applying as soon as possible. A few possible options include:

1. VA’s Domiciliary Care for Homeless Veterans (DCHV) Program. These residential programs provide medical, mental health and substance abuse treatment and rehabilitation to eligible homeless Veterans. Domiciliaries are residential treatment programs and not transitional housing, but can be an important resource for Veterans returning to the community who need support. A typical Domiciliary stay lasts for approximately 3 - 4 months. In New York State there are Domiciliary programs located in Canandaigua (Finger Lakes region), Bath (Southern Tier), Montrose (Hudson Valley region), and St. Albans (Queens). Each Domiciliary program is unique, and the HCRV Program Specialist can help you determine which program is right for your needs. The Domiciliary is also an entry point for other VA transitional housing programs. To be screened for the Domiciliary program, contact the HCRV Program Specialist (see pages 7 - 9 for more details).
2. VA Grant & Per Diem Programs. These programs are operated by community-based transitional housing providers using funding from the Department of Veterans Affairs. Programs provide residential and supportive services to homeless Veterans for up to 24 months. Each program and associated housing facility is unique and has its own screening and admission criteria. For more information about these programs, contact the HCRV Program Specialist (see pages 7 - 9 for more details).

3. Oxford Houses. This non-profit organization started in 1975. Today there are over 950 Oxford Houses throughout the country. An Oxford House is a self-governed and self-supported recovery house for people who seek sobriety. The house members are responsible for all household expenses, and any member who uses alcohol or drugs is immediately expelled. These are nice homes in nice neighborhoods. To locate an Oxford house, call the 24-hour helpline at (800) 689-6411. Oxford Houses in New York State can be located on the web at www.oxfordhouse.org

Long-term or Permanent Housing

Permanent housing may be challenging to find immediately after your release, especially if you are trying to put other aspects of your life in order such as finding a job and getting a stable income. It is still worthwhile to explore your options, however, so here are a few possible resources:

1. Public housing waiting lists can be long, but the length of time can vary from county to county. Even if you are not sure where you want to live yet, apply to get on a waiting list so that you can have as many options as possible. To learn how to apply, contact the local housing authority listed in the phone book blue pages under “Local Government, Public Housing Authority.”

2. The VA HUD-VASH Program is a collaboration between the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD) and the U.S. Department of Veterans Affairs Supported Housing (VASH) program to help homeless Veterans and their immediate families find and maintain affordable, safe, and permanent housing in the community. The primary goal of HUD-VASH is to help Veterans and their families successfully move out of homelessness using HUD Section 8 “Housing Choice” rental assistance vouchers and VA’s intensive case management. services. The program is designed to improve each Veteran’s physical and mental health, and to enhance each Veteran’s ability to remain stable, housed, and integrated in their local community. Veterans work with a VA case manager for assessment, service planning, help with obtaining the Section 8 voucher, and housing placement. Veterans continue to work with their assigned case manager for the duration of their time in the program. To be screened for the HUD-VASH program, contact the HCRV Program Specialist (see pages 7 - 9 for more details). NOTE: Veterans and immediate family members subject to a lifetime registration requirement under a state sex offender registration program are not eligible for HUD-VASH because they will not be able to obtain a Section 8 housing voucher.

Things to remember regarding housing:

If you will be under parole supervision after your release, there are a few important points to remember:

A. At the very least, you will need some kind of semi-permanent housing arrangement in order to be paroled. This could mean living with family or in transitional housing that you may be able to arrange while you are incarcerated. Transitional housing can provide you with a place to live while you are finding employment and/or saving for your own apartment.

B. As a health care organization, the Department of Veterans Affairs is unable to provide letters of reasonable assurance to veteran inmates.

C. Your parole officer will be looking for you to establish some kind of stable permanent residence in your first three months after release.

D. After you are released, DO NOT MOVE without notifying your parole officer. DO NOT move outside the county or state without his/her advance permission. Moving out of state requires written permission in advance, usually from both your initial parole officer and from the parole officer in the state you are moving to.
EMPLOYMENT ASSISTANCE

Many people feel like they are completely starting over after their release from incarceration, even if they had good jobs and worked steadily in the past. It is important to begin preparing for job opportunities while incarcerated so you can begin working as soon as possible after your release. Having a stable income from work is important for housing and other necessities and can smooth your transition to the community. You should ask for job counseling and training while you are still incarcerated and take advantage of any educational or employment preparation activities being offered at your facility.

In addition, the following resources may be helpful to you:

1. The Department of Labor’s (DOL) One-Stop Career Centers offer the convenience of one-stop shopping for your employment and training needs. One-Stop Career Centers offer a variety of job finding resources in one place such as internet access to thousands of job listings in New York and nationwide, computerized job matching and direct referral to job opportunities, career counseling and job search workshops, assistance writing and publicizing resumes, and assistance accessing training and/or retraining resources. There are about 95 One-Stop Centers and affiliates located in New York. A listing of New York centers is available on the web at www.servicelocator.org.

2. The New York State Department of Labor offers Veterans specific resources including career assessment, referral to jobs, contacting employers, resume preparation assistance, information on federal, state, and local civil service opportunities, job search planning, labor market information, and referral to other agencies that provide services to Veterans. To contact a Veterans Employment Representative in your area call (800) 342-3358, or go to: www.labor.state.ny.us/VETs/VETINTROPAGE.shtm

3. VA Vocational Rehabilitation and Employment services help Veterans with service-connected disabilities by providing job training and counseling to those who have an employment handicap. Services include help finding a job, on-the-job training, job development, and vocational training. VA vocational rehabilitation counselors can also help Veterans find other options or programs depending upon their needs. Contact your VA Regional Office (VARO) at 1-800-827-1000, or go to www.vba.va.gov.

4. The VA Veterans Industries and Compensated Work Therapy programs offer structured work opportunities for at-risk and homeless Veterans with physical, mental health and addiction problems. Please note that you must be eligible for VA healthcare services for this program. VA contracts with private industry and the public sector for work by veterans in the program who in turn learn job skills, re-learn successful work habits, and regain a sense of self-esteem. Veterans are paid for their work and given assistance with finding employment in the community. If you would like to be screened for this program, please contact the HCRV Program Specialist (see pages 7 - 9 for more details).

MENTAL HEALTH SERVICES

If you are eligible for VA Health Care:

The Department of Veterans Affairs provides a full range of inpatient, outpatient and residential treatment for Veterans with mental health and substance abuse concerns. This includes help for issues like depression, anxiety, Post Traumatic Stress Disorder (PTSD), and Military Sexual Trauma (MST), as well as illnesses like Bi-Polar Disorder and Schizophrenia. This includes opiate substitution (methadone) treatment. There are also specialized services for veterans who served during Operation Enduring Freedom (Afghanistan) and Operation Iraqi Freedom (Iraq).

If you are currently incarcerated the Health Care for Re-entry Veterans (HCRV) Program Specialist can speak with you in more detail about available programs and services that can meet your specific needs. (See page 8 for information on how to contact the HCRV Program Specialist in your area).

If you have been released, please contact your local VA medical center found on pages 10-11.

SPECIAL NOTE: If at any time after your release from incarceration you are in a crisis, a national toll-free Veterans Crisis Hotline is available 24 hours per day, 7 days per week. Please call (800) 273-TALK.
In addition, Vet Centers provide readjustment counseling and outreach services to all veterans who served in any combat zone, and to any veteran who was sexually traumatized (regardless of gender or era of service) while serving in the military. Services are also available for their family members for military related issues. Veterans have earned these benefits through their service and all are provided at no cost to the veteran or family. The 232 community based Vet Centers are located in all fifty states, District of Columbia, Guam, Puerto Rico and the US Virgin Islands. In the state of New York, the Vet Centers are located at the following locations:

SUBSTANCE ABUSE TREATMENT

If you have a history of abusing alcohol or drugs prior to your incarceration, you may want to seriously consider some type of treatment after your release even if many years have passed since the last time you drank or abused substances. Many people who have been clean and sober because of incarceration often face challenges staying that way when they return to their communities. We strongly recommend receiving substance abuse treatment to help you avoid temptations and stay on a positive path to achieve your goals after your release.

General Substance Abuse Services:

The following sources may be able to tell you where you can go to get help:

1. The New York State Office of Alcoholism and Substance Abuse Services (OASAS) has a HOPEline offering help and hope 24-hours a day, 365 days a year for alcoholism, drug abuse and problem gambling. All calls are toll-free, anonymous and confidential. Call: (877) 8-HOPENY.

WOMEN VETERANS

The Women Veterans Health Care Program is an integral part of the Department of Veterans Affairs, Veterans Health Administration. The program goals are to present diverse and innovative programs that care for, educate, and support women Veterans during all phases of their lives. The program focus is on the unique needs and issues facing women Veterans including health promotion, disease prevention and management, and emotional well-being. In addition, support and therapy groups for women who have suffered military sexual trauma are available. There is a Women Veterans Program Manager at each VA medical center who coordinates services for women Veterans. Please contact your local VA Medical center for further information regarding the Women’s Veteran Program.
LEGAL ASSISTANCE

Most law is state-specific, and the law in the state where you live or where the problem occurred governs most common legal problems. When looking for legal help, make sure that information you find applies to your state, or that the lawyer or other service provider is qualified to work in your state.

1. The American Bar Association has a web site with guidelines about free legal services and links to directories of legal aid offices and pro-bono programs. Go to: www.abanet.org

2. LawHelp / NY is an on-line tool for helping low-income New Yorkers solve their legal problems. It is the only comprehensive source of legal referral information in the state and includes free legal service projects and organizations with their contact and intake information, Know Your Rights and self-help resources covering 15 areas of law, extensive links to social service, advocacy and government organizations, information about the Court system, and a Spanish mirror website and legal rights resources in more than 30 languages. Go to: www.lawhelp.org/ny

3. The New York State Division of Child Support Enforcement has a website that assists parents with child support information and requirements, including online videos. Go to www.newyorkchildsupport.com. In addition, the Department of Veterans Affairs has formed a partnership with the New York State Division of Child Support Enforcement to help low-income Veterans to find out if they owe child support and make restitution, (repayment) based on ability to pay. You can speak with the Health Care for Re-entry Veterans (HCRV) Program Specialist if you have concerns about child support. (See pages 7 - 9 for more information on how to contact the HCRV Program Specialist.)

FINANCIAL ASSISTANCE

1. If you are unemployed with little or no income, you may be able to receive welfare and food stamps from your County Department of Social Services. We have included a list of county offices in New York State in Appendix II of this guide.
2. If you are disabled and know you will not be able to return to work in any capacity, you can apply for Supplemental Security Income (SSI) benefits from the Social Security Administration before your release, even though you will not receive the benefits until after you are released. Generally, applications for Food Stamps can be requested together with SSI. Normally it takes about three months to review an application, so apply well before your release date. If you have any questions regarding filling out the application, please contact the following:

- 1- (800) 772-1213
- Check the phone book blue pages for your local Social Security Administration office
SECTION III: VBA BENEFITS & ENTITLEMENTS

This section applies to veterans who are currently receiving VA disability benefits. If you want to apply for VA benefits, please refer to the “Financial Assistance” section, pages 21-22.

VETERAN BENEFITS ADMINISTRATION

If you are disabled due to your military service or disabled and served during a period of combat, you can apply for VA Service Connected Compensation from the Veterans Benefits Administration of the Department of Veterans Affairs. In addition, the Department of Veterans Affairs publishes a booklet called “Federal Benefits for Veterans and Their Dependents” that describes the types of benefits available and lists the addresses and phone numbers for VA facilities nationwide. For detailed information or assistance, please contact the Department of Veterans Affairs Regional office via phone or mail. The contact information is found below:

- Regional Office Toll Free Number 1-(800) 827-1000 or write to:

  | Department of Veterans Affairs Regional Office 130 South Elmwood Avenue Buffalo, NY 14202 | Department of Veterans Affairs Regional Office 245 West Houston Street New York, NY 10014 |

- VBA website: www.vba.va.gov

- Please note, Re-Entry Specialists cannot award financial benefits. The Regional Benefits Office listed above addresses these types of matters. If further assistance is needed, please write your appropriate Re-Entry Specialist.

BENEFITS PAYMENTS WHILE INCARCERATED

There is a 60-day "grace period" following a conviction to receive full benefits. To avoid an overpayment, it is important that you notify the VA Regional Office in writing (VARO) immediately upon conviction if you are receiving payments. If you do not notify the VBA (Veterans Benefits Administration) and receive overpayment, you and your family will lose all financial payments until the debt is paid. The VA considers it to be the Veteran’s responsibility and fault if this occurs because the Veteran failed to notify the VA of his or her incarceration. Attempts to obtain a waiver in these situations of overpayment are often unsuccessful.

For example, Joe is a Veteran who receives a VA pension. He commits a crime, is convicted and incarcerated, but does not tell the VA right away and keeps getting paid for 6 months. After serving his sentence of 18 months, he is released and applies to the VA to have his pension reinstated. He will have an overpayment that must be recovered from the reinstated benefits. Until the overpayment is recovered by the Veterans Benefits Administration (VBA), Joe’s VA pension will be suspended until the debt is paid in full.

APPORTIONMENT - VBA

Legally a Veteran can only receive a portion of the full amount payable for his or her disability rating while incarcerated, but the remaining balance may be “apportioned to the individual’s dependent family”. This means your dependant family members (spouse, children, or dependent parents) may be able to receive part of your benefits while you are incarcerated. VA regulations clearly specify an apportionment amount will only go to family members if they can show financial need.

To apply for apportionment, you must send a letter to the VA Regional Office (VARO) that identifies yourself as the Veteran and your spouse, children and/or parent as dependents. You must clearly state that you are requesting an apportionment of your VA benefits.

In deciding whether any apportionment is appropriate, the amount of the apportionment, and to whom it will go, the following factors are considered:

- The family member’s income and living expenses;
- The amount of compensation available to be apportioned;
- The needs and living expenses of other family members; and
- Special needs of any of the family members.

For example, Tom is rated as 80 percent disability (80% service connected). While incarcerated he can only receive the amount he would get if he was 10 percent disabled (10% service connected). However, his family may be apportioned up to 70 percent, the difference of the 80 percent rating. (80% service connected minus 10% service connected = 70% service connected. The 70% goes to Tom’s family.)

There is a 60-day “grace period” following conviction where the Veteran or dependent family members (also called Dependency or Indemnity Compensation (DIC) recipients) may still receive full benefits. If the Veteran continues to receive benefits after the 60-day period, it will result in an overpayment. The VA considers it to be the Veteran’s responsibility and fault if this occurs because the Veteran failed to notify the VA of his or her incarceration. Attempts to obtain a waiver in these situations of overpayment are often unsuccessful. As a rule, the veteran loses most, if not all, financial benefits until the VA recovers the entire overpayment. It has also been a standard procedure that the family will not be entitled to receive an apportionment until the debt is completely recovered.

It is important to remember that most VBA decisions, including those on apportionment, can be appealed to the Board of Veterans Appeals and, if need be, to the Court of Appeal for Veterans Affairs.

RE-STARTING BENEFITS AT RELEASE

The VBA needs formal notification from the prison of your release in order to re-start benefits. This means you need to take your release papers from prison to the VBA Regional Office in person. The sooner documentation is provided to the VBA, the sooner the VBA can begin to process your request.

Alternatively, you can complete Form 21-4193 (Notice to Department of Veterans Affairs of Veteran or Beneficiary Incarcerated in Penal Institution) before your release, have it signed by a prison official and submitted to the VA Regional Office.

SEEKING FINANCIAL BENEFITS AFTER RELEASE

If you would like to get benefits or if you think you have a pending claim before the VA, it is best to get professional help to assist you.

1. Many Veterans Service Organizations (VSO’s) have trained staff who can help you with your VA claim, and can legally represent your claim before the VA. The following are some VSO’s in the state of New York:

2. The Department of Veterans Affairs has an online Directory of Veterans Service Organizations with additional listings:
http://www1.va.gov/vso/index.cfm

Although we encourage you to seek the aid of a service representative, you may choose to apply for VBA benefits on your own:

- Write the VARO or find the forms online at: www.va.gov/vaforms
- You can also apply for certain benefits online at:
DISCHARGE UPGRADES

If you are not eligible for VA benefits and services because of the character of your military discharge (such as “Dishonorable” or “Bad Conduct”, you can consider applying for a discharge upgrade from the Military Discharge Review Board. Here are a few important points:

1. Because of the time consuming nature of the discharge upgrade process and the need to collect documentation, we STRONGLY suggest you wait until after your release before applying for a discharge upgrade.

2. If / when you do undertake an application, we STRONGLY urge you to get help with the process. We suggest you contact a Veterans Service Organization, the New York State Division of Veterans Affairs at (888) VETS-NYS, or go to: http://veterans.state.ny.us/index.html.

3. The American Legion has developed a Guide to Filing Military Discharge Review Board and Board for Correction of Military Records Applications that gives a good overview of the application process, suggestions and information about what to expect. It is available online at: http://www.legion.org/documents/legion/pdf/dodguide.pdf
