- Program Design Scenarios
- Community Presenter(s)
- Q&A and Wrap-up

Why Rapid Re-housing?

Majority of households experience homelessness due to a financial or other crisis

- RRH is designed to alleviate the burden of that immediate crisis as quickly as possible.

Prolonged exposure to homelessness has a significant negative impact on adults and children

- RRH is designed to shorten the length of time people are homeless.

RRH is focused specifically on removing barriers to tenancy so people can return to housing

- RRH is not designed to resolve every challenge a household faces more generally.
- A household can attend to challenges that may have contributed to their crisis more effectively once they are housed.

Core Components of RRRH

Core Components Continued...

Housing Identification- landlord recruitment and retention, addressing barriers to screening for housing, leveraging non-traditional housing resources, aiding participants in accessing safe and secure housing

Rent and Move-in Assistance- for upfront costs as well as ongoing rental assistance, as needed but adequate, incorporates participant contribution, flexible

Case Management and Services- focus on housing retention barriers, connect to mainstream resources, tailor to meet the needs of the individual, plan for today with an eye on tomorrow

Program Philosophy and Design

- Housing First Approach: Permanent housing assistance is not contingent on sobriety, treatment, background, or income
- Crisis Response: RRH is designed to help quickly resolve the immediate housing crisis and end someone's homelessness
- Client Choice: Participants determine when they want to be housed, choose the services they want, and have choices in the type and location of housing they enter whenever possible
- Screen In, Not Out: RRH is for all types of individuals and families, no matter what kind of tenancy barriers exist

A Progressive Approach

- Individualized supports and scale
- NOT one size fits all. Policies describing “what everyone gets” will only lead to failure
- Begin with least amount of assistance needed and scale up from there when required
- Make short-term commitments but be mindful of longer-term needs
- The services are JUST AS or MORE important than the financial assistance
- Evaluate, adjust, repeat

Flexibility of RRH Model

Rapid Re-housing is a flexible model that can be designed and managed (within the bounds of the funding source) to meet an individual community's needs.

RRH Program Design Considerations

- Length and amount of financial vs. services assistance
- Landlord partnerships (incentives, recruitment, retention)
- Scale of case management and services (e.g. caseload size)
- Target populations
- Staffing levels, qualifications, training, and supervision
- Organizational and administrative operation

RRH Programs May Ask Themselves...

- Is my program designed to meet the needs of our individual participants as well as the needs of the community? Is it working?
- Is my program flexible and able to make tweaks when those needs change over time?
- Has my program implemented any rules or methods of operation that create unintentional barriers to successfully serving participants?

Scenario #1

What are some of the program design and management considerations that could be considered in:

A CoC with a very high number of households experiencing chronic homelessness and very few available PSH opportunities

Scenario #2

What are some of the program design and management considerations that could be considered in:

A project dedicated to serving transition-aged youth (18-24)
experiencing homelessness

Scenario #3

What are some of the program design and management considerations that could be considered in:

A project dedicated to serving families with children

Scenario #4

What are some of the program design and management considerations that could be considered in:

A project serving a very large geographic area that is primarily rural

Scenario #5

What are some of the program design and management considerations that could be considered in:

A project in a community with a very competitive rental housing market
