Through the VHA Library Network Office’s subscription to ClinicalKey for Nursing, you now have access to three journals and five Scope and Standards from the American Association of Critical-Care Nurses (AACN).

This new, additional content brings the latest evidence-based clinical information in acute and critical care nursing through AACN’s award-winning and nationally recognized journals. AACN Scope and Standards describe and measure the expected level of practice and professional performance for acute and critical care nurses in a patient-centered healthcare system.
