COMPENSATORY TIME OFF IN LIEU OF OVERTIME PAY FOR SCHEDULE C EMPLOYEES

1. PURPOSE. The purpose of this notice is to provide policy and guidance for administering compensatory time off in lieu of overtime pay for all Schedule C employees within the Department of Veterans Affairs (VA). Compensatory time off is time off with pay in lieu of overtime pay for irregular or occasional overtime work. The amount of compensatory time off is equal to the amount of time spent in the irregular or occasional overtime work. For employees on a flexible work schedule program, compensatory time off also includes time off with pay in lieu of overtime pay for regularly scheduled overtime work. These procedures apply to all Schedule C employees. The content of this notice applies to compensatory time off in lieu of overtime.

2. AUTHORITIES.
   a. 5 C.F.R. part 550, Pay Administration (General).
   b. 5 C.F.R. part 551, Pay Administration under the Fair Labor Standards Act.

3. POLICY.
   a. General Information. Each agency establishes its own policies on the use of overtime pay and compensatory time off for Schedule C employees within the requirements of the law and Office of Personnel Management (OPM) regulations. Schedule C employees may be authorized compensatory time off in lieu of overtime pay for irregular or occasional overtime work. For employees not covered by the Fair Labor Standards Act (FLSA) overtime provisions (Exempt), accrued compensatory time off not taken within the time limit prescribed in paragraph 3.d of this notice will be forfeited unless failure to use the compensatory time off is due to exigencies of the service as determined by the supervisor. FLSA Exempt employees that are unable to use the compensatory time off due to exigencies of the service will receive payment for the unused compensatory time off at the overtime rate in effect when it was earned. The amount of compensatory time off authorized may not exceed the limitations outlined in paragraph 3.d below. The compensatory time off must be approved in writing prior to the work being performed. While it is both legal and appropriate for Schedule C staff to earn compensatory time off, supervisors are expected to be judicious in its use.

   b. Granting Compensatory Time Off in lieu of Overtime Payment. Compensatory time off in lieu of overtime payment for irregular or occasional overtime work will be granted to Schedule C employees within the provisions outlined below.
(1) Employees not covered by FLSA (i.e., FLSA exempt):

(a) May be approved in lieu of overtime pay for irregular or occasional overtime work (i.e., work that is not regularly scheduled).

(b) May be approved in lieu of overtime pay for regularly scheduled or irregular or occasional overtime work only for employees working under flexible work schedules.

(c) Management may require the use of compensatory time off only for FLSA exempt employees with pay greater than GS-10, step 10 (including applicable locality pay and special rate supplements), and only in lieu of overtime pay for irregular or occasional overtime work.

(d) VA may not allow an FLSA exempt employee to earn compensatory time off by working overtime hours if the employee would be unable to receive overtime pay for the same hours because of the biweekly overtime pay cap. The value of earned compensatory time off is included in applying the premium pay cap (based on the amount of overtime pay the employee would have earned).

(e) An employee must use accrued compensatory time off within 26 pay periods. At that time, unused compensatory time off will be forfeited, except as described in paragraph 3.d(2) below.

(2) Employees covered by FLSA (i.e., FLSA non-exempt):

(a) May be approved in lieu of overtime pay for irregular or occasional overtime work, but only at the employee’s request.

(b) May be approved in lieu of overtime pay for regularly scheduled, or irregular or occasional overtime work at the request of an employee, but only for employees working under flexible work schedules.

(c) FLSA non-exempt employees may never be ordered to take compensatory time off in lieu of overtime pay.

(d) The value of compensatory time off earned by FLSA non-exempt employees is not included in applying the premium pay cap.

(e) If earned compensatory time off is not used within 26 pay periods, or if the employee transfers or separates from the agency, the employee must receive payment for the unused compensatory time off at the overtime rate in effect when earned.

c. Documentation of FLSA Status (Non-exempt or Exempt). It is important to know which set of overtime rules (FLSA or title 5) cover individual employees.
(1) Position Description. The actual duties an employee performs, which is documented in their position description, determine whether an employee is non-exempt (covered) or exempt (not covered) under the minimum wage and overtime provisions of the FLSA.

(2) Notification of Personnel Action (SF-50). The servicing human resources office determines FLSA coverage, and it is stated on the employee’s Standard Form 50 (SF-50), box 35, as N (non-exempt) or E (exempt). Non-exempt employees are covered by the FLSA overtime rules while exempt employees are covered by title 5 overtime rules. The electronic Official Personnel File (eOPF) for each employee contains the SF-50 (See EHRI Electronic Official Personnel Folder (opm.gov)).

d. Time Limits on Compensatory Time.

(1) Compensatory time off should be taken as soon as possible after it is earned, but not later than the end of the 26th pay period following the pay period in which it is earned. Compensatory time off may be taken only during the employee’s basic workweek.

(2) If accrued compensatory time off is not used by an FLSA non-exempt employee within 26 pay periods or if the FLSA non-exempt employee transfers to another agency or separates from Federal service before the expiration of the 26 pay period time limit, the employee must be paid for the earned compensatory time off at the overtime rate in effect when earned. For employees not covered by the FLSA (Exempt), compensatory time off not taken within the time limit prescribed above because of the exigencies of the service will be paid at the overtime rate in effect when earned. If compensatory time is not taken within this period because of personal reasons not due to the exigencies of service, the right to compensatory time off or overtime pay for the duty performed is forfeited.

(3) In cases of internal movement within VA, compensatory time off must be taken or paid for prior to the effective date of transfer. Under no circumstances will an obligation for compensatory time off be transferred to a VA facility.

NOTE: Managers should be aware compensatory time under 5 U.S.C. § 5543 is counted as premium pay for FLSA exempt employees when applying premium pay limitations. For example, under 5 U.S.C. § 5547, an employee may receive compensatory time off only to the extent that, it would not cause the aggregate rate to exceed the greater of the maximum of GS-15 Step 10 (including any applicable special salary rate or locality rate of pay) (e.g., $172,500 for 2021 in Washington, DC) or the rate payable for level V of the Executive Schedule (e.g., $161,700 for 2021). See 5 C.F.R. § 550.114(g). An employee who is prohibited by that aggregate compensation limitation from receiving overtime compensation may not receive compensatory time off in lieu of such prohibited compensation.
